EDITORIALS

As this is the last number of the Hopkins Arms under the present board of editors, we take this opportunity to thank all those who have, in any way, helped to make the paper a success. May the paper continue to be a credit to Hopkins!

We realize that our literary department is not very large this time, but then, the Juniors and Seniors with their plays and "Prom" and between the baseball games, tennis etc., have been so busy that they have not been able to contribute material along that line. As for the lower classmen, they have been so busy attending the same social affairs as their elders that they too ought to be excused.

By the time this issue is out the present Seniors will be Alumni. A few years from now we will probably look back upon our four years at Hopkins as the happiest and busiest years of our lives.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Senior Play entitled "Miss Molly" was put on in the Town Hall, May 29. It was a success to judge by the way the audience received it. Pres. Babb, in behalf of the Senior Class, presented Miss Callahan with a gift for the time and help she had given them in coaching the play.

The cast was as follows:

|                      |                         |

Afterward, Richmond's Orchestra furnished music for dancing and refreshments were served.

A Shakespearian Entertainment consisting of Scenes from "As You Like It" and "King Henry V" and of songs from other plays of Shakespeare was given in the Town Hall by the Juniors on April 24. This ambitious dramatic undertaking was very successfully carried out under the direction of Mrs. Reed. The Juniors presented her with roses after the entertainment.

Refreshments were served and music for dancing was furnished by an orchestra composed of M. A. C. men.

The annual Sophomore Social was given in the Gym, April 17, under the direction of their class advisor, Miss Cook. Shadow pictures formed an interesting part of the program. The usual eats and dancing followed.

The tennis court ever since it was laid out under the supervision of Mr. Brown, has been one of the busiest spots in school.

The court is in better condition than it has ever been before. During lunch period the side lines are filled with "rooters" who are waiting to get a chance at the racquet. After school the game calls to those whose time is not otherwise occupied. We hope that sometime we can have two courts so that more people can have a chance to play.

A while ago Miss Cook sent the names of her pupils to France requesting the High School pupils there to write to us, and about May 29 letters began to arrive. The letters are written in French and are very interesting. We are answering them in English and hope that the correspondence will be kept up.

On June 3, about seventy pupils of Hopkins Academy went to Ashfield in cars generously furnished by townspeople, to attend the baseball game against Sanderson Academy. It was a perfect day for such a trip although rather hot. Some went by way of Goshen, others through Conway and everyone enjoyed the beautiful scenery.

The game started at 3:30 and was very exciting from start to finish. We won by the score of 4-3.

Following the game we were served with refreshments of sandwiches and lemonade. Having thus been royally entertained we left for home.

The Juniors had their annual outing at Lake Wyola, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Reed and Miss Moffat accompanied them. The water was fine and the swimming added greatly to the good time. Some unusual athletic and acrobatic ability was displayed by various members of the class. The picnic supper was enjoyed immensely.

The Junior English Class wrote essays on the "Constitution of the United States" for the prize essay contest conducted by the American Legion. The faculty judged the essays written by the class, and selected the four best to be sent to the American Legion Contest. The essays selected were written by Mary Wosko, Elizabeth Caraman, Joseph Pekala and Clarence Mitchell.

PRIZE SPEAKING

The Thirteenth Annual Lane Prize Speaking contest was held at the Town Hall, Wednesday, May 6.

The speakers showed the result of hard work and training. Much credit is due Miss Cook for the excellent work she did in coaching them.

JUNIOR PROMENADE

The Annual Junior Promenade was given June 5, in the Town Hall by the Junior Class, in honor of the Seniors. The hall was artistically decorated in blue and white. The following committees made the "Prom" a success:

Executive Committee;

Josephine Toole
Dorothy McQuestion
Joe Nycz

Decorating Committee;

Elizabeth Caraman
Mary Gwodizk
Jacob Jekanowski

Orchestra Committee;

Clarence Shockro
Ruth Scott
Joe Pekala

Refreshment Committee;

Helen Banasieska
Katherine Zygmunt
Joe Nycz

The following acted as patronesses: Mrs. Joseph Shockro, Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. Robert McQuestion, Mrs. Peter Balise, Mrs. Leslie Smith.

Richmond's Orchestra from Northampton furnished the music for the evening and in spite of the heat everyone seemed to have a good time.

ALUMNI NEWS

1916

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McKelligott have a son born June 9th. Mrs. McKelligott was Evelyn Lester.

The school was saddened June 7 by the death from pneumonia of Charles Surgen, a member of the freshman class. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Surgen of Goff Street, and was born in Detroit, Michigan, 14 years ago. He came with his parents to Hadley four years ago. "Charlie" was a likable boy and was popular with classmates and teachers. He was interested in athletics, fishing, all out-of-door sports, and reading. He was a member of all the freshman teams, a substitute on the second basketball team and one of the most promising athletes in his class. His death was keenly felt by the entire school. Funeral services took place at the Holy Rosary Church on the morning of June 9, Rev. Julius Jaworek officiating. The school attended in a body and five of the girls of the freshman class were pall bearers.

Out-door Sketches

The Brook

It started as a spring near the top of the mountain. It rushed down the mountain side and then, with an abrupt drop of forty feet, it became a lovely waterfall. At the foot there was a deep pool, on the sides of which grew the greenest of green moss. Farther on, the brook, full of small rocks and stones, was the dwelling place of many trout. At the foot of the mountain the brook rambled on through a meadow, steadily becoming larger. On its banks grew many kinds of wild flowers.

Down farther where another brook joined it and it became a small river, willow trees grew on the banks. Here it formed a shady swimming pool which was in use all summer. Below the pool, the brook slowly glided on and finally flowed into a large river where it was lost in the midst of the rushing current.

The Trout Pool

One day as I was walking along a brook, I came upon a big pool, with water flowing into it from three small brooks and leaving it in one large stream. The water was musical as it fell over the little dunes and rocks into the pool, which was quite round.

The water had a greenish color, and here and there I could see large trout darting around in the shady places. Along the sides of the pool were high banks with green grass and flowers growing on them. As I walked along, some grasshoppers jumped into the water to be swallowed up by the large trout. The fish would leap out of the water to catch the flies and grasshoppers. Then they would fall back into the water with a splash, and all would be quiet again. It was a place where one would love to linger on a hot, clear summer day.

Out Camping

Last summer in July, after a hard day's work, I lay down under a tree to rest. As I was lying on the grass, John, who was beside me, spoke up and said, "Just look at that car."

I turned over and looked at it. "Why," I said, "that's just some people going out camping." They had their car loaded down with all kinds of camping outfit. When I saw that car go by, I began to get interested in camping too. So that day John and I talked about our going camping, and right away we made plans to start out the next Saturday.

The following week John and I worked hard, so Dad would let us go camping for a couple of days over Saturday and Sunday. Almost every night during that week we would get together and talk about our camping trip. We made up our minds to go camping by boat. We fixed up our boat and got the grub together, so that when Saturday came we would be all ready to start out on our trip.

Finally Saturday did come, but it was cloudy and looked as if it was going to rain sometime in the afternoon. Dad had some hay out in the field and wanted John and me to help him get it in, as he did not want to get it wet. He told us if it was going to rain to-day, we could have another day off. We worked till noon and got the hay in, and as it did not rain, we decided to go just the same.

About four o'clock that afternoon we piled our camping goods into a wagon, and John's brother took us down to the river, about half a mile from the house. After loading our stuff from the wagon onto the boat, we started off. Roger watched us sail out and hoped we would have a good time. When we started from the shore, we had our minds made up that we would eat our supper on Shepherd's Island. I had to row the boat all the time because my partner John did not know anything about rowing a boat.

We reached Shepherd's Island just before dark. It was cloudy that day and night came on fast.

When we reached the Island, we were hungry, and hurried to eat our supper before dark. Just as we got through supper, it began to sprinkle and John was worrying about where we were going to stay over night. I told him, "Don't worry. We are going to stay right here." So we took the stuff out of the boat, pulled it on the shore and tipped it bottom side up. We put all the things under the boat, and, spreading the blankets on the sand, we got under the boat, as it was beginning to rain. It poured, and the rain started to come in under the boat so I had to get out and bank up the boat with sand on the side where the rain came in. We could not sleep very well as it was so hot under the boat. Some men who were camping just a little way from us were singing all night long, and I enjoyed listening to them.

We woke up at five o'clock the next morning, and by six we were all through breakfast, ready to go on further. It was a beautiful Sunday morning; the vapor was rising from the river, and we could see the fish jumping around in the water. As we were eating our breakfast, a man passed us, going down river in a motor-boat; he waved his hand and shouted to us. I remarked to John, "I guess we are not the only ones who are early this morning."

After breakfast we started rowing up the river. As we went slowly along, we noticed a number of camps and once in a while we would stop in and talk with the campers. All of them were very pleasant people and they treated us as if we were their best friends. By noon we had gone up past the Hadley bridge and we stopped and had dinner on the island. That was a fine beach for swimming, and we had a great time there.

After dinner we started reluctantly toward home; we took our time coming back and stopped at different places. Early in the afternoon we landed on Shepherd's Island, where we had spent the night before. There we swam, read the paper and enjoyed ourselves generally the rest of the day. As the automobiles passed by us, the people would wave their hands to us and looked as if they wished they were with us. One car came by and stopped, and a man who happened to be a friend of ours told us to hurry and start for home because a big storm was coming. Just then I looked up and saw a flash of lightening; then I knew it was no joke. On account of the trees on the island we had not seen the storm coming. We piled our things into the boat and started for home as quickly as we could go. I never rowed a boat so fast in my life as I did that day.

The storm was coming on with a rush. When we were within a thousand feet of our harbor, I could not row any more; the wind would turn the boat and push it against the shore. So we left the boat there and started as fast as we could go to the nearest house. We were entering the house when it started to rain. It just poured; the wind blew hard, and the lightening was terrible! It was the hardest storm we had that summer. I called up our home and let the folks know that we were safe, so they would not worry about us. After the storm, we journeyed home. We did not get the boat home till the next night. Of course it had to rain when we were out camping, but just the same we enjoyed our trip very much and had a fine time.

After Haying Time is Done

He strolls across the meadow,
After haying time is done,
And listens to the frogs going,
Chug-a-rum, Chug-a-rum.

The chirp of the crickets he can hear,
As he has for many nights,
And the bobolink a-bubbling,
Wakes the prospects of the future,
Ever better, ever bright.

On the fragrant evening air,
The smell of new mown hay,
Brings many a pleasant memory,
As he ends a perfect day.

The Sandy Beach

The best place that I know of to go on a hot summer day is the Sandy Beach. The beach is located beyond the meadows near the lower, or southern end of West Street. There are good roads leading to it from several directions. The beach of fine white sand is about a mile in length.

As one walks along the shore, he will notice the beautiful scenery around it. Across the river are the Northampton meadows, dotted here and there with graceful elms. Farther away the church spires rise above the surrounding trees. In the back-ground is a wonderful view of the Holyoke range with its seven sister peaks.

The beach is the main attraction for all water-lovers, young and old. The water is clear, and the beach slopes gradually so that it is safe for children and those who do not know how to swim. Near the shore the youngsters are having great fun wading and splashing the water at each other. Further out are some boys floating with automobile tires, and girls with water-wings learning to swim. A little distance away loud laughter is heard as some unlucky youth is being ducked by his friends, or a small boy is diving from the shoulders of one of his companions.

On the shore are camp fires and groups of people roasting frankfurts or bacon to add an out-door flavor to their supper. Beyond the bushes which edge the shore is a line of automobiles, and sometimes a tent or two. People in Hadley can stay home all summer and still enjoy most of the pleasures of the sea-shore.

Household Arts
Agriculture

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

The excellent appearance of the campus this spring is due to the work of the Agricultural Department. The Freshman and Sophomore Divisions pruned the shrubs and cleaned up the school grounds. This division also has rolled and mowed the baseball field several times.

Pruning and spraying of the apple orchard has been done by the Junior and Senior Division.

On May 1st and 2nd, in connection with High School Day at M. A. C., a state livestock and poultry judging contest was held. Over twenty teams from different parts of the state competed. Sixteen classes of live stock were judged and first honors went to the Hopkins Acaremy Team consisting of Roger West, Horace Babb and Lewis West. They received the large silver loving cup given as first honor for the state championship in Livestock Judging. In individual judging, Charles Klimoski, an alternate on the winning team, was given second place and Lewis West, fourth. The competition in this contest was the keenest it has ever been and the other teams from all parts of the state were out for the cup. George White, John Bak and James Coffey represented Hopkins in the judging contest of novice teams, took third place.

The poultry judging contest was won by our team for the third year in succession. The team consisting of Roger West, Lewis West and Horace Babb, competed with thirteen other teams from different yarts of the state. As individual, Roger West was placed first, Lewis West, second and Horace Babb, fourth.

The winnings of these teams at M. A. C. contests were a large silver cup for state championship, a large silver cup for first prize in poultry judging, a small individual cup to Roger for high individual, nine ribbons to members of each team, three rosettes for each winning team and five medals for individual won by Lewis West, Roger West, Horace Babb and Charles Klimoski.

The week after they were won these trophies were displayed at the Hampshire County Trust Company through the courtesy of Mr. Willis.

The Department will lose this year through graduation Roger West and Horace Babb. Through their faithful and conscientious work they have received national recognition as judges of poultry. In addition to this they have been constant winners in all lines of judging. They have set a high standards for future members of the department to strive to attain.

HOUSEHOLD ARTS NEWS

On April sixth the four Household Arts classes went over to the Farm Bureau to compete with Smith's School and Smiths' Academy in judging food and clothing as a forerunner of the Three County Fair next fall.

On April twenty-second the four classes were invited down to Mrs. Clifton Johnson's home in Heckunum to see a modern kitchen. Mrs. Johnson told us about the history of the house and what different generations had done to make modern improvements. Thus showing us how a house grows with the times.

Catherine Zygmunt gave her luncheon June second. This was the last of the luncheons which have been served by the Junior and Senior Household Arts Classes.

Athletics

At the noon recess and after school hours our tennis court and baseball fields have been kept busy by both the boys and the girls. During the past few years the girls have shown quite an interest in baseball. They are learning how to play the game and do quite well at both the bat and in the field. This increased interest in athletics on the part of the girls is a good sign.

Our baseball team started the season well by defeating Northampton High School 6 to 1. Neither team could do much at the bat. The city team could make but three hits, two off Rojko in two innings and one off Shockro in five innings. Hopkins connected for hits when hits meant runs.

The score:

Captain Harry Jekanowski, Coach Brown and Manager Harold Shockro felt after the victory over Northampton High School that a good season was sure providing the boys could occasionally remain for a practice and if we could put on the field at each game our first string lineup. In C. Shockro and Rojko Hopkins has two of the best high school pitchers in this part of the state. Nycz is new to the team this year. Tudryn and Eddie Wanezyk are veterans of proved ability. West played outfield last season but Coach Brown felt he could make good at short stop. In the outfield were two reliable and steady performers, Captain Jekanowski and Murphy. Stanley Jekanowski looked like a fixture in right field and a good catcher to occasionally relieve his cousin "Jake." In Wentzel, Martula and "Jimmy" Coffee are three youngsters who act and look like ball players. The boys were impressed with the fact that in Mr. Brown they had a coach who was enthusiastic, a hard worker and one who knew the game of baseball thoroughly. They were all with him from the start. And now with the last weeks of the year approaching we can feel that we have reasons to be proud of what the team, under the direction of Coach Brown, has done. We have victories over Northampton High School, Smith Academy, Easthampton High School, Sanderson Academy and Smith's School. Games we lost to Amherst High School, South Hadley Falls High School, the Massachusetts Agricultural College Freshmen and to Agawam High School were well played. Several of the games lost would have been won had we been able to present our strongest lineup. When tobacco planting starts here, there is no time for practice and usually from two to five of the best players are unable to remain after school for a game. While this condition means the loss of some games, it also offers an opportunity for substitutes to get some good experience.

So. Hadley Falls High School 7, Hopkins 6

Germain, left fielder for the South Hadley Falls High School nine, came through May 6, at South Hadley Falls, with one of those "once in a life time" stunts that puts him in solid with every school boy in the town. In the sixth inning, with Hopkins leading 5 to 0, he stepped to the plate with the bases loaded. With the count two and two he met one of Rojko's fast ones and drove it into deep left for the first solid smash his team had made.

Before it could be relayed to the Hopkins catcher, he had crossed the pan. An error and two more hits put a team that had been ready to accept defeat into the lead, 6 to 5. Rojko's terrific drive that was being recovered by the center fielder when John crossed the pan tied the score in the eighth. With two down in the ninth, Stanley Jekanowski, a freshman, singled and stole second. His brother Harry's sharp single through the infield was handled by the left fielder. His throw to get Stanley at the plate was wide, but Stanley collided with the catcher, who blocked the plate, and was stunned for a few seconds. A coacher assisted him to the plate, and the umpire declared the runner out. Had the runner been declared safe, because of unnecessary blocking by the catcher, Hopkins' team would have been a run ahead, a runner on third and the best batters coming. In the last of the ninth with one down, a hit, a hit batter and a single gave the South Hadley team the winning run.

It was a good school boy game with South Hadley getting all the breaks. Hopkins hit harder than their opponents, but many of their drives went straight at a fielder. The South Hadley infield played snappy baseball. Capt. Jekanowski's fielding and the work of Joey Nycz around number one sack were features. The South Hadley Falls team appeared to be the best balanced nine the school has had in years. It has already a number of victories to its credit. The team considered itself fortunate to pull the game out of the fire.

Hopkins 13, Smith's School 5

Hopkins and Smith's School played an interesting game of baseball on the Hopkins field May 8, the Hadley boys winning, 13 to 5.

Both teams used freshmen behind the bat. And both youngsters played well. Graves fielded bunts in front of the plate like a veteran. Ramsey and Nycz saved their infield errors by taking bad throws in fine shape. Sharac played an aggressive game for Smith's School. Eddie Wanezyk's work with the stick was a feature.

Hopkins scored in the first. With three on, as the result of two passes and "Jake" Jekanowski's safe bunt, Wanezyk drove two across the plate by hitting safely to left. West's long single to center scored "Jake" and "Eddie." An error, a base on balls and a passed ball, accounted for the visitors' first score in the second. In the third Wanezyk's single, a stolen base and an error made Hopkins' total six. Hits by Sharac and Ramsey, an error, and a fielder's choice, sent two runs across for Smith's School in the third. Two errors, F. Raffa's single and a pass ended the visitors' scoring in the fifth. J. Jekanowski's fine drive to center, with two on, made it eight runs for the local team in the fourth. In the sixth, Hopkins scored four, when, with two on, "Eddie" Wentzel hit one for three bases and Wanezyk's single and J. Nycz's two-base drive followed. An error, a sacrifice and Wanezyk's fourth safe one gave Hopkins another run in the eighth.

Hopkins 10, Easthampton High School 0

Clarence Shockro almost achieved the distinction of having his name put in baseball's hall of fame, along with Cy Young, Walter Johnson and a few other famous pitchers May 19, when he pitched all but a no-hit game.

For eight innings he turned the Easthampton high school hitters back without a run or a hit. But one player had reached third and only two had been as far around as second. Tompkins, first up in the ninth, was out on a nice play, West to Nycz. Graham, who had looked good at the bat the other times up, tried hard to hit one safe. The Hopkins team was on its toes, working for a no-hit game. Wanczyk made a great try for Graham's foul. Capt. Jekanowski almost captured another foul from Graham's bat. When he hit sharply to Wanczyk and was out at first it looked as though "Curty" was to pitch a no-hit game. Brothers, next up, hit a roller through the infield. Wanczyk made a desperate effort to reach it, but missed it by inches. This scratch hit marred what would have been a perfect record. "Curty" had everything. His curves broke nicely and his control was good. He was given excellent support, especially by "Jake" Jekanowski, whose throwing to bases was a feature.

Potasky pitched well for Easthampton high school. Up to the 8th inning it was a close game with almost anything apt to happen. Wanczyk was given a life on an error in the second. Jake Jekanowski sacrificed him to second and Joey Nycz's line hit to center sent him over the pan. Two bases on balls and hits by Wentzel and Wanczyk netted a pair of runs in the fifth. An error, Wanczyk's single and Jake Jekanowski's safe one into right gave Hopkins its fourth run in the seventh. In the eighth, West, first up, was hit by a pitched ball. Some well-placed bunts, a couple of errors, two bases on balls and Eddie Wanczyk's fourth safe hit sent Hopkins' total to 10.

The game was an interesting one. Wanczyk's all around playing and Knox's fielding were features. Harry Jekanowski, Murphy and Sheldon turned in some good catches. The Hop-kings field never looked so well. There are few prettier ball fields than the Hopkins field.

Hopkins 5, Smith Academy 0

Hopkins took a fast, well played game from Smith Academy on the Hatfield grounds, May 15, by a score of 5 to 0. It was a close game with the result in doubt up to the ninth when Hopkins pushed three runs across the plate, bringing their total to five. Hopkins had its full strength on the field and put up its best exhibition of the year. Both pitchers received good support, especially from the catchers, Jekanowski and Burke. When the teams found the game was resulting in a pitchers' battle, all sorts of chances were taken in base running. Burke's accurate throwing picked off two runners on third and two on first, while Jekanowski stopped several base runners who attempted to pilfer third.

Rojko was on the mound for the Hadley boys and was in the best form he has displayed this spring. He was a bit wild in the first three innings but settled down after that. He struck out 14; three of the best Smith Academy hitters going out that way in the ninth. At the bat he connected for a home run, three bagger and a single, scoring three runs and driving in two.

Mullaney pitched cleverly for Smith Academy, Rojko and Wanczyk being about the only Hopkins' players able to solve his delivery.

Rojko's long drive that cleared the bank in right center and dropped into the Connecticut river, gave Hopkins its first run in the fifth. Wanczyk followed with a single, stole second and was sacrificed to third by Nycz. West made a good try to bring him in, but Yarrows made the feature catch of the day when he went back and captured West's long drive.

Rojko was safe on an error in the seventh and came all the way home on Wanczyk's long single to right.

In the ninth H. Jekanowski reached first by means of an error. Tudryn drew a pass. Mullaney gave Rojko a wide one, but he stepped across the pan and sent it into deep right for three bases. Wanczyk's third single scored Hopkins' ace with the last run of the game.

As usual when these ancient rivals meet, there was a good crowd of rooters on hand. They witnessed one of the best games ever played by the two institutions and a game that could have gone either way up to the ninth. Mangum did a nice piece of umpiring.

Amherst High School 6, Hopkins 3

There was a good crowd on hand on the Hopkins field May 21 to see two of the best high school pitchers in this part of the state engage in a pitchers' battle. Joy, Amherst

High School's star athlete, held Hopkins to five hits and was given good support by his teammates. Rojko held the Amherst boys to two hits, but his support wobbled at critical times, enabling the college town boys to win by a 6 to 3 score.

Amherst broke Hopkins' record of 18 innings play without being scored upon, when in the first inning with the bases loaded, as the result of an error and two passes, Parnell laid down a pretty bunt. Rojko's throw to the plate was wide and two runs filtered through. The first eight men to face Joy went down by way of three strikes. But the ninth batter was passed. Murphy scratched an infield hit. Both came in when Capt. Jekanowski's hit to short got away from J. Joy.

In the third, with two down, Parnell reached first on an error and went home on Grebin's fine two-base drive. Hopkins was dangerous several innings, but Joy tightened when a hit meant a run. Up to the eighth it looked as though the home team would come through with the bacon. Hopkins had men on nearly every inning, while Amherst was not able to do a thing with Rojko's offerings. The eighth inning told the story. Two batters hit by a pitched ball, a base on balls, a sacrifice, two errors and a perfect bunt by Parnell that went as one of the two hits made by the visitors, scored three runs.

A neat play by H. Jekanowski to Wanczyk, forcing a runner at third, retired the side and robbed J. Joy of a hit. Rojko's single, an error and two outs at first gave Hopkins its last run in the last half of the eighth. Amherst played "heads-up" ball all the time and presented a well-balanced team. Joy's heady work on the slab, and Smith's fielding and base running featuring their play. The work of the Hopkins battery and the outfield work of Murphy and Jekanowski featured for Hopkins. Stanley Jekanowski was the only player on either team to connect safely more than once.

Hopkins 4, Sanderson Academy 3

Hopkins had to play its best game of the season to defeat the Sanderson Academy team at Ashfield, June 3, score 4 to 3. It was a good game. There was some solid hitting, some snappy fielding and a game that because of its closeness was exciting all the way through. No team on Hopkins' schedule has so consistently given Hopkins trouble as this Ashfield team. Sanderson Academy always has a good ball club and this year's nine is no exception. No team hit Rojko last year as did the farmer boys from Ashfield, and yesterday they hit him harder than any team he has faced this spring. Sanderson had lost up to yesterday but three out of twelve games this year.

With two down in the first, Tudryn hit one on line for four bases. In the fourth he almost duplicated the hit, but was caught at the plate. Hopkins' one run looked big until the fourth when a hit batsman, a base on balls and two hits put the home team to the front, 2 to 1.

Both teams succeeded in getting runners on in a number of innings, but fast fielding prevented scores. In the eighth with two gone, Capt. Jekanowski singled. Tudryn connected for his third safe one and both counted on Rojko's safe rap into right. This put Hopkins in the lead, 3 to 2. In their half of the inning, with one out, Ranney singled through the box, Scott hit a safe one into right field. Hartwell was out on a nice play, Tudryn to West. Thayer's third hit sent in Ranney with the tying run.

Craft drew a pass, filling the bases. The heat appeared to be affecting Rojko, so Coach Brown sent Rojko to right field and Clarence Shockro into the box. Clarence then proceeded to strike out the batter. "Jake" Jekanowski opened the ninth with a single, West's out at first advanced him to second and Shockro's line hit over second sent in "Jake" with what proved to be the winning run.

Shockro's curvers were working nicely, and he had little trouble in holding the lead his bat had produced. Tudryn's hitting and fielding, the work of both batteries and Thayer's hitting were among the features of as good a school boy game as one would care to see.

Miss C.: " ? ? "

The members of the cast of the Senior Play have developed serious cases of "chocolitis."

Ikey: "Ten dollars for that hat? There are no holes in it."

Salesman: "Why should there be holes in it?"

Ikey: "So the jackass vat buys it can put his ears through."
